Noman Mahdi is a Compliance and Ethics Manager at Affiliated Monitors, Inc. (“AMI”), where he coordinates compliance monitoring activities for client engagements, including monitoring Bond Construction Projects with the Los Angeles Community College District.

Before joining AMI, Mr. Mahdi served as a Legal Compliance Officer in Washington, D.C. with the National Democratic Institute for International Affairs. In this role, he ensured organizational compliance with local laws, employment standards, registrations and reporting requirements, and banking regulations across more than 50 jurisdictions.

Mr. Mahdi also worked as a Program Officer for the Justice and Anti-Corruption portfolio at the European Union (EU) Delegation in Afghanistan. There, he managed multiple EU-funded projects focused on anti-corruption initiatives and rule of law reform. His experience further includes roles with justice sector reform programs at Checchi & Company Consulting, Inc. and the International Development Law Organization (IDLO).

Mr. Mahdi holds a Master of Arts in Anti-Corruption Studies from the International Anti-Corruption Academy in Austria, an LL.M. in Democratic Governance and Rule of Law from Ohio University, and a bachelor’s degree in law and political science from Albirony University in Afghanistan. Mr. Mahdi is fluent in English and Persian, and has basic proficiency in German.
